JEFFERSON CITY, MO., April 15.—
Governor Joseph W. Folk, in a statement made to-day, said:

"The lynching at Springfield was a most disgraceful occurrence. Whatever the offense of the negroes may have been and however deserving of death they may have been, they were entitled to punishment by law, and not by a mob, and, when a mob takes the law into its own hands, as this one did, any member of it is guilty of murder. I will request one of the assistant attorney-generals to aid the prosecuting attorney of Greene county to punish the offenders, and shall offer a reward of 320 for any information that would lead to the conviction of any member of the mob."

Must Satisfy Moody.

Every amendment to the rallroad rate bill is carefully scrutinized at the White House. The President invariably submits each of them to the Attorney-General, and Mr. Moody is said to be the only member of the Cabinet who favors legislation as radical as that which the President is generally supposed to advocate. The senators know full well that Attorney-General Moody is the man who must be satisfied. Theodore Roosevelt is a poor lawyer, and has at last come to know it. It is utterly imposible for him to analyze legal propositions. Doubtless, he would be as much in the dark as any layman in the gallery as to the meaning of the fine distinction drawn by Mr. Halley, Mr. Spooner, Mr. Knox and Mr. Foraker between judicial power and judicial jurisdiction, subjects upon which the first three senators have discoursed

THE ARMS OF MRS.

AFTER LONG SEARCH GETS PROOF OF HER HIGH LINEAGE

Mrs. George J. Gould Traces Her Pedigree Back to The Twelfth Century.

MRS. FRANK FRANTZ

NEW YORK, April 15.—After a most careful and painstaking research of more careful and painstaking research of more than two years, Mrs. Edith Kingdon Gould, wife of George J. Gould, has succeeded in tracing her pedigree back to the twelfth century. She has found that her forbears were of high lineage, if not of the nobility, and that one of her ancestors, of intrepid mean and stout of arm, did with a single blunderbusk ropel a whole shipload of invading Frenchmen on the west coast of England and caused them to flee in terror to the coast of their native land.

Thus it comes about in an elaborate coat of arms, which has been prepared by the Heraldry Court of England for Mrs. Gould and the use of her eidest son, Kingdon Gould, the heir to the Goold millions when he shall have at

The origin of the three magpies which occupy a conspicuous position on the shield is a little in doubt, although many months were spent in the endeavor to ascertain a clue.

The right of the Kingdons to the use of a lion supported by a gun' in the family coat of arms is undisputed and is voucled for by the highest heraldic authorities, since the permission for its use was granted by a royal patent to the high-spirited ancestor of the Kingdons who so vallantly repelled the French.

Tidal Wave of Religious Fervor Sweeps Over North Carolina Capital.

RALDIGH, N. C., April 15.—The fact that a religious awakening is daily stirring a large portion of the poople of this city is now realized and admitted by even easual observers, who are not the first to recognize the advent of a spirifual power. This spirit is more or less apparent according to the most consecrated and best informed workers, in practically all the churches of Rateign. Many attribute it to be a result of the teachings loft by the consecrated scholar, Dr. Chadwick. There has been a religious interest kindled in this city which has reached many classes of people and has even made its impress on the conversation one hears in places where men are not wont to discuss spiritual things.

Massee, read to the congregation, a letter he had received from inmates of a house of shame here, begging that the Christian people pray for them that God might reclaim them. The signers said that they hoped to be able to hear the sermon as they stood outside the church that night and listened.
